BIO

As a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach and an interactive StrengthsFinder facilitator, Wendy focuses on encouraging teams to live their natural strengths in a way that improves individual and team well-being.

Given her design, writing, and technology background, she especially loves working with creative, communications, and IT teams, as well as mission-driven organizations.

Her CliftonStrengths Training style is collaborative, and masterful with breakout conversations.

Wendy's other passion is encouraging families. Her experiences have given her an expansive view of what humans need to live out their strengths.
